Equal thirds

Designed backwards from three teenagers: three bedrooms of near-equal size, each with its own door into a bathroom, and nothing to rebuild on the way there.

- Equal thirds at stage 3: west room 16.0 m², east room 17.7 m², suite lounge 16.1 m², each with a bathroom door inside the room. No child gets the short straw.
- A 45° kids' gallery peels off the landing: angled doors to the west room and laundry, and a Jack-and-Jill bath wedged into the corner it cuts, pocket door from each room.
- Hotel suite behind one door: walk-in shower room on W1 → his walk-through → hers → king bedroom. The lounge has its own E1 shower room and landing door: bedroom 3, no building work.
- Shared heart: prayer room with an east-facing icon apse, laundry with a window, kitchenette on the E1 wall, linen at the landing.
- Ground floor is one open loft: pantry → kitchen with 2.8 m island → round dining table → garden lounge; glass pivots close the kitchen off.

Big moves vs the master plan

- Street half: two near-equal kids rooms sharing a Jack-and-Jill bath; play lives in a kids room.
- Diagonal kids' gallery replaces the kids lobby; 1 m crawl den over the west room's wardrobe nib.
- Laundry to the west side window; prayer room with a curved apse on the landing.
- Ground: kitchen–dining–lounge open along the west bay; guest WC door on a 45° chamfer.
