

T2-A

Family side · Guest side

The house splits lengthwise: the family lives down the west bay, guests are received in the east bay, and one wide screen joins or separates them.

- Two living rooms that close: a 27 m² family room (TV + play, terrace) and a 28 m² guest salon for 7 (garden slider). A 4.4 m walnut folding screen opens them into one 55 m² room for Christmas.
- The cook sees the whole family side: 3-stool island, hood on the west wall, glass slider to the dining; groceries come in by the west side door, never past guests.
- A 45° portal ends the hall and turns guests diagonally toward the garden; the guest WC door hides on a 45° wall in the vestibule.
- Parents own the west bay behind one door: a suite hall leads past the shower room (double basin, WC alcove), his closed dressing (2.3 m) and her larger closed dressing (3.7 m + full mirror) to the king bedroom on the garden.
- Shared kids bath on W2: a door from the second kids room and one from the kids lobby beside the double room. Stage 3: rooms of 13.1 / 11.2 / 14.2 m², the lounge with its own shower.
- Space out of nothing: a curved chapel front for the prayer room facing the real east wall, a secret den behind a flush panel, a sleep-over loft over the kids bath.

Big moves vs the master plan

- Ground: kitchen → dining → family room in the west bay; the 50 m² salon becomes a closable 28 m² guest salon.
- Folding screen on the column line; glass slider kitchen ↔ dining; 45° hall portal and 45° guest WC door.
- First: linear suite with one diagonal dressing; lounge keeps shower on E1 + lockable landing door.
- Kids bath between the kids rooms; laundry with street window; chapel + secret den south of the stair.
- Round 2 (Daniel 19 Oct): the walk-through dressing is split into a closed HIS (3.8 m²) and a larger closed HERS (5.1 m²) off a 1 m suite hall (one suite door, now mid-landing); shower room 5.1 m² with the WC in an alcove. Movement fixes: kids lobby (ladder to the loft) gives the kids bath and double room their doors without crossing a bedroom; guest-WC 45° wall slid 0.2 m so the door can be reached; store marked outside-only; lounge-shower fixtures and door re-set, lounge sofa nudged north, armchair dropped; den door 0.85 m; landing books moved; double-room wardrobe 2.4 m on the east wall.
