

H4

H2 + the office's ideas

H2 unchanged downstairs; upstairs the four ideas worth taking from the office's five drawings, inside H2's equal thirds.

- Landing that earns its floor: a built-in walnut bench with a bookcase over it and a reading rug beside the stair, a family / kids' reading nook on space the house has to give to circulation anyway.
- Hers grows into a 3-wall walk-in with a curved end wall: about 5 m of wardrobe on three walls (H2: 3.6 m) and a curved full-height mirror; the curve flares the suite hall into a small round lobby at the bedroom door.
- Prayer room with a sweeping apse: the whole landing-side wall is one arc, the icon wall sits in it on the east, a 4-seat pew faces it, with a pocket door off the corridor.
- East kids room: twin 1.1 m beds with a shared nightstand on the east wall (the office's upgrade over 1.0 m); 1.1 m beds also for the stage-3 bedrooms.
- Everything else is H2: one suite door, his as a closed room, shower room on W1, suite lounge with its own shower and lockable landing door, Jack-and-Jill kids bath, kitchenette, laundry.

What it takes from where

- Ground floor and the first-floor frame: H2 (T1-R3 ground + T2-B equal thirds), unchanged.
- Living landing: O2 / O3 (KK 2 and KK 3) family lounge on the landing, taken as a built-in bench + bookcase, no extra room.
- Curved-wall hers: O2 / O3 island dressings. The full island did not fit (see notes); the curved end wall and the larger walk-in did.
- Apse prayer room: O5 (Angles 2) arc on the corridor side, combined with the studio east icon wall.
- 1.1 m twin beds with a shared nightstand: all five office drawings (O1-O5).
